Section 1 Scope of application

These Study and Examination Regulations govern the content and qualification objectives as well as the structure and examinations of the Bachelor's degree program in Art. They apply in conjunction with the General Regulations for Bachelor's and Master's Degree Programs at Hochschule für Gestaltung Offenbach am Main (HfG), as amended from time to time.

Section 2 Academic degree

Upon successful completion of the Bachelor's degree program in Art, HfG awards the academic degree "Bachelor of Fine Arts" (B. F. A.).

Section 3 Standard period of study

- (1) The Bachelor's degree program in Art has a standard period of study of eight semesters.
- (2) The degree program amounts to 240 credit points (CP).
- (3) The Bachelor's degree program in Art can be studied on an informal part-time basis upon application in accordance with the requirements of state law. Everything else is regulated in the Enrollment Statutes of HfG.

Section 4 Program start

The degree program can only be started in the winter semester.

Section 5 Aims of the degree program

The aim of the Bachelor's degree program in Art is to train artists and designers to work professionally in artistic and creative fields. Against the backdrop of an art and cultural landscape that is both historically traditional and increasingly intermedial and transcultural, they will be able to meet the demands of developing professional profiles and develop new impulses through their own competencies.

In the Bachelor's degree program in Art, students acquire the ability to work artistically/creatively as well as organizationally and technically. They explore and test artistic formats and content in all artistic teaching areas and acquire knowledge and skills in the art and design-related theory subjects of the Department of Art. Emphasis is placed on the processual, the interdisciplinary, and the interactions of theoretical/scholarly reflection and artistic practice. Likewise, social skills among students are basic elements of the intended personality development. The course qualifies students to develop their own positions and approaches and to implement artistic projects. The course is both application-oriented and unrestricted with regard to artistic work and offers room for the development of independent positions.

Section 6 Structure and language of the program

- (1) The teaching events in the Bachelor's degree program in Art are offered within the framework of modules. An overview of this is provided by the study plan (Annex 1). The module descriptions (Annex 2) provide further details on the course content and examinations. The program takes place primarily in projects.
- (2) The degree program, including the examinations, is conducted in German. In agreement with all parties involved, individual courses and examinations may be conducted in English.

Section 7 Elective Segment

- (3) In the modules in the "elective section", students can freely choose courses within the framework of the specifications described in the modules. The aim here is advancement of the student's own artistic profile and broadening of areas of competence according to personal interests.
- (2) The courses to be taken and the CP to be acquired will be displayed in good time before the start of lectures at an appropriate place.
- (3) In the elective section, courses offered by the other department as well as other universities in Germany and abroad can also be attended ("free study") in order to achieve the competence goals. In addition, interdisciplinary, extracurricular, and external events can be included in the elective section. In such cases, students must coordinate their list of planned events with the Examination Committee before starting the corresponding module. The CP allocation for the free study in the elective section is based on a CP catalog published on the department's website.

Section 8 Final module

- (1) The final module involves the conception, execution, and presentation of a challenging, complex, independent artistic project within a specified framework. The Artseminar chosen for this purpose must take place with a professor with whom the students have already attended at least one Art seminar in the course of their studies and who has been teaching at HfG for at least two semesters. The Examination Committee may allow exceptions to this supervision requirement. This person is the supervisor of the thesis and does the initial grading. Additional supervision by teachers in the area of theory and/or practice and/or from the Department of Design is possible. In the case of co-supervision, the initial grade is determined in consultation with the co-supervising teachers.
- (2) The final project can be prepared as a team or group project in accordance with the General Regulations, section 21, paragraph 3. If a final project is created as a collaboration within the HfG and/or outside the HfG, the framework conditions for this must be agreed upon with the examiners and the Examination Committee before registration.
- (3) The second assessment of the thesis is carried out by an Exam Board consisting of at least two additional lecturers. For this purpose, students may approach suitable professors, lecturers for special tasks, and assistant professors active in teaching at the Department of Art and, where a connection to the project exists, at the Department of Design. In cases of doubt regarding the composition of the Exam Board, the Examination Committee will decide.

- (4) For admission to the final module, proof of at least 210 CP is required, including all practical modules.
- (5) The final certificate bears the date of the presentation and is signed by the chairperson of the Examination Committee. It states the topic of the final thesis as well as the names of the first and, if applicable, second supervisor with the respective teaching area.

Section 9 Module examinations and coursework

- (1) Registration for module examinations in theory (modules THEORY 1-3) is done with the lecturer and usually takes place by means of attendance at the written exam or with the issuing of the topic for the written paper.
- (2) Registration for the module examination in the module ART (FINE/APPLIED) 2 (orientation project) and for the Bachelor's thesis takes place with the stipulation of the project to the Examination Committee and is possible twice a year (for the Bachelor's thesis, beginning in the summer semester of 2026). The exact dates are announced on the department's website. At the time of registration for the final examination, students must be matriculated.
- (3) For repetitions of module examinations and coursework, section 19 of the General Regulations shall apply.

Section 10 Examination Results, formation of the overall grade

- (1) The following grades are to be used for examination results:
 - 1 = very good an excellent performance
 - 2 = good a performance that is significantly above the average requirements
 - 3 = satisfactory a performance that meets average requirements
 - 4 = sufficient a performance that still meets the requirements despite its deficiencies
 - 5 = insufficient a performance that does not meet the requirements due to significant deficiencies
- (2) For differentiated assessment of the examination, individual grades may be increased or decreased by 0.3 to intermediary grades; the grades 0.7, 4.3, 4.7, and 5.3 are excluded here.
- (3) The overall grade for the Bachelor's degree program in Art is calculated from the average of the module grades, which are weighted as follows:

Module THEORY 1	5 %
Module THEORY 2	5 %
Module THEORY 3	5 %
Module ART (FINE/APPLIED) 2 (orientation project)	25 %
Module BACHELOR'S THESIS	60 %

Section 11 Study advice and requirements for the course of studies

(1) An orientation event is held at the beginning of the degree program.

The professors provide ongoing advice on the structure and implementation of the study program during their office hours. In addition, all lecturers provide advice on the content of their teaching.

The management of the Examination Committee also provides advice on administrative matters of the degree program.

(2) Pursuant to section 7 of the General Regulations, the study program is planned in such a way that 30 CP per semester are awarded for full-time study within a standard period of study.

(3) Students must attend at least one course per semester.

(4) Students who have not attended any courses for two semesters in a row must attend a course advisory session held by the Examination Committee or a person designated by the Examination Committee in the next semester.

(5) Students who have again failed to attend courses in the two following semesters without giving reasons may be exmatriculated.

(6) For determination of the delay in study pursuant to (4) and (5), section 18 of the General Regulations on compensation for disadvantages must be taken into account.

(7) If students give reasons for the delay pursuant to (4) or (5) in the course advisory session that are not covered by the compensation for disadvantages, the Examination Committee may grant an extension of the deadline in cases of hardship.

Section 12 Additional modules and allocation of places

(1) Students may attend additional courses/modules ("overflow account") subject to available places.

These can be listed in a transcript of records. In the case of parallel attendance of alternative courses/modules, the students determine at the beginning of the semester, in connection with the registration for the two courses, what is to be recorded in the curriculum and what in the overflow account.

(2) In the course catalog, regulations can be made for access to individual courses with limited (work)places. Students who want to specialize in the corresponding subject area through the course and possibly aim for a thesis in it can be admitted with priority.

Section 13 Compensation for disadvantages

For compensation for disadvantages, section 18 of the General Regulations shall apply.

Section 14 Publications by the department

The Department of Art has the right to inform the public in a suitable form (e.g., exhibitions, publications – including in electronic form) about students' research projects and theses. The exploitation rights of the students remain unaffected.

Section 15 Entry into force

These Study and Examination Regulations come into force on the day after their publication on the website of HfG and apply to all students who start their Bachelor's degree in the winter semester of 2022/23.

- Formation and differentiation of the one's own expressive style
- Experimentation with professionally oriented social skills, in discourse and for collaborative projects
- Articulation of social and emotional skills, in discourse around one's own work

Orientation Project:

In the fourth semester, the students develop their Orientation Project within the framework of a seminar on the subject of their choice. The Orientation Project highlights the initial focus of a potential field of study; it is an advanced, complex artistic task dedicated to a specific theme.

At the end of the semester, the project is presented in an appropriately complex form and is discussed in the seminar. If required by the project, instructors from THEORY, PRACTICE, and other teaching areas may be consulted for supervision.

Courses

3 Artseminars for the consolidation phase, each 3-4 SHW/5 CP

1 Art seminar with Orientation Project, 15 CP, made up of up to 2 CP supervision in practice/workshops
 up to 2 CP supervision in theory

Notes

The Art seminars are a mixture of joint work and group discussions (3-4 SHW) along with independent studio practice. Where the classroom time is longer, the proportion of individual work is lower, since the corresponding amount of work is done within the framework of the seminar.

The Orientation Project is carried out in one of the Art seminars for the module.

Expectations and Coursework

Regular participation, individual artistic work with presentation in all Art seminars

Assessment

The Orientation Project is carried out in one of the Art seminars: from concept to implementation and presentation of an advanced and complex project within a specified framework (by the end of the lecture period).

Prerequisites Completion of the module ART (FINE/APPLIED) 1. For the Art seminar of the consolidation phase in which the Orientation Project is carried out, the student must have attended another Art seminar by the same instructor beforehand. For the Orientation Project, the modules PRACTICE 1 and 2 must also have been completed. In the course catalogue, supplementary prerequisites may be defined in individual cases, specific to the subject area.
